

New Sweet Itch Product – Cavalesse

A new product has been launched this spring to assist in the battle against the itch! It is a supplement which is fed daily as a treat and can be used in conjunction with all the usual precautions against flies and midges. There is also a topical gel supplied which can be used on the skin.

Mast cells are released as part of the allergic reaction to the midge bites and it is the histamine which causes the itch reaction. Cavalesse works by stabilising the mast cells which releases less histamine into the body. Cavalesse comes in a pack with 3 months supply of supplement plus the topical gel. If you would like any more information about this product, or to find out if it would be suitable for your horse please do not hesitate to ring.
